DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Applicant is advised that the Notice of Allowance mailed 11 August 2003 is vacated. If the issue fee has already been paid, applicant may request a refund or request that the fee be credited to a deposit account. However, applicant may wait until the application is either found allowable or held abandoned. If allowed, upon receipt of a new Notice of Allowance, applicant may request that the previously submitted issue fee be applied. If abandoned, applicant may request refund or credit to a specified Deposit Account.
2. The indicated allowability of claims 2-11 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Hickerson. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Drawings

3. Figures 1 and 2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.121(d)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3743

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 2 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Number 1,968,644 to Hickerson, as evidenced by U.S. Patent Number 3,620,377 to Holtz.

Regarding claim 1, Hickerson discloses a garment hanging rack capable of being used to treat constipation, comprising a substantially horizontal bar (identified below) supported by a suspension means constructed and arranged such that it is capable of suspending said bar when in use with a toilet a sufficient distance above the toilet to enable a person when using said toilet to passively semi-hang from said bar, wherein said suspension means is a free-standing base having two downwardly extending legs (1, 1') and two support members (2, 2'). The device disclosed by Hickerson is so capable, due to the fact that a typical rack would be approximately 5 feet tall by several feet wide, as evidenced by Holtz, in order to accommodate the hanging of garments from the rack, and wherein a rack of such a height is capable of being placed over a conventional toilet measuring approximately 1.5 feet tall by 1 foot wide.

Regarding claim 9, Hickerson discloses an apparatus capable of being used to treat constipation comprising a cross-bar (identified below) having two ends and having attached at a substantially right angle to each of said two ends thereof a downwardly extending leg (1, 1'), a downwardly extending support member (2, 2') hingedly attached to an upper end of each said leg, and a horizontal bar having two ends, said horizontal bar being connected at each of said two ends thereof to a respective said leg at a point on said leg so that said horizontal bar when in use in relation to a toilet enables a person using said toilet to passively semi-hang from said horizontal bar.

For a discussion of the patentable weight afforded to functional language in a claim, please see MPEP 2114. “While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997)... “[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does.” Hewlett-Packard Co. v. Bausch & Lomb Inc., 909 F.2d 1464, 1469, 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990).” “A claim containing a “recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus” if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).”

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hickerson in view of U.S. Patent Number 6,523,707 to Liu.

Hickerson discloses the previously described garment rack, having two downwardly extending legs and two support members. Hickerson does not specify that the legs and support members be adjustable.

Liu discloses a garment rack having downwardly extending legs. Liu discloses that the legs are adjustable to move the rack to different heights, to accommodate different garments.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to have provided the rack disclosed by Hickerson, wherein the legs and support members are vertically adjustable, as taught by Liu, to accommodate garments of varying sizes.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 3-8 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
